Sullivan To Fly Pick-Up Over Warren

Air Mail pick-up service of which Warren has had a part during the eight years life of the service is growing into national stature and will play a prominent part in the air mail boom due to the recent cut in air mail rates.

Recognizing the potential of the pick-up system for the expansion of air mail service, Gael Sullivan, second assistant postmaster general will go to Pittsburgh on Wednesday to ride the routes of All American, Inc.

He will fly in the pick-up places on Thursday from Pittsburgh to Jamestown, N. Y., passing over Warren observing first hand how the "main street airline" handles mail out of small communities.

Besides gathering data to be used in planning extension of pick-up service to many other towns in the nation, Mr. Sullivan will gain information on the possibility of mail pick-up lanes carrying passengers.

Passenger service approval is being sought by All American from the Civil Aeronautics Board. Public counsel already has recommended granting of four passenger routes, three of which would use Pittsburgh as a hub.

All American has made more than 400,000 pick-ups and now is averaging 100,000 a year. It has flown nearly six million miles. The line has 1523 route miles, and flies 6092 miles daily.

H. R. Bazley, All American vice president, will be host to Mr. Sullivan.

Hitler Lives?

Former Lt.-Col. William F. Hemlich, of Columbus, Ohio, until recently chief of U. S. Intelligence in Berlin, believes that Adolf Hitler, his mistress Eva Braun, and Martin Bormann, Hitler's deputy, are still alive. Hemlich, now a civilian serving in the Berlin Military Government, led the search for Hitler's body. He says that nothing has been found to indicate that the Fuehrer is dead.

Pow-wow Well Attended By Scouter Cubs

The Cubbers Pow-Wow held at the Grace Methodist church, Saturday, by the Warren Boy Scout Council, was well attended by the leaders of the Cub Packs of the area. T. E. Spender, chairman of the council training committee presided at the sessions.

Cubmaster Karl Timm of Pack 12 presided over the pack management section. Assisting with the presentations in that group were J. C. Ellis, Cubmaster Ben Hucklebone, Pack 3, C. C. Wynans, Leo L. Ciesse, Ted Spenser and Frank Parker.

Scout Executive Frank Parker had charge of the ceremonies and entertainment section assisted by Mrs. R. H. Parks, and Mrs. Mildred Ostergard.

Commissioner Don Lauffer conducted an interesting group in crafts with the help of his nephew Scout Hugh Lauffer.

Each section in the Pow-Wow dealt with different phases of the Cubbing program. A very fine dinner was prepared and served by William M. Smith and F. Johnson. Both men are active in Scouting in other capacities and have given much of their time helping with various training activities of the council.

The training committee wishes to thank all those who had a part in making the Cubbers Pow-Wow a success.

The club is establishing a splendid reputation throughout this section for providing excellent entertainment.

MANY REFUSE TO BUY
Most was in Warren stores and markets on Saturday in greater quantity than it has been in several weeks but the prices were pointed skywards and many of the women shoppers refused to buy. While the buyers strike was not general there were scores who just closed up the offerings. Price drops are expected inside of the next few weeks and the buyers who refuse to pay the high prices will aid in bringing them down. Reports from cities state that many meat dealers are also taking part in the boycott on high prices and that butter has already declined some in price due to buyers refusal to pay the exorbitant price asked.

The seven so-called "dust bowl states" produced approximately 556,000,000 bushels of wheat in 1944.

Disappointed Motorists See But Drab Trees

Many motorists drove into this section Sunday to view the fall foliage but overcast skies kept Old Sol from pouring his rays on the trees and making the colorings stand out. The color is there in many sections of the county but in the main the trees do not have the brilliant hues of years past. Due to the long drought the moisture that makes the colors has not climbed into the trees to afford the brilliant dress expected.

However there are many sections where the trees are color-ed in a gorgeous array of color but it needs the sunshine to make the picture complete. Many with cameras yesterday stopped at Warren hotels and restaurants and they were prepared to shoot in color the trees and shrubs. However the weather man has promised to provide plenty of sunshine and warmer air for Tuesday and those who can do so will undoubtedly get out on the county highways to view the scenery in its fall bedecked beauty.

OUR MEN IN SERVICE

Opportunity Awaits Men In New Pennsylvania Guard Co.

Capt. Scheerer, who was in conference recently with the commanding officer of the 12th regiment Pennsylvania National Guard, conveyed to all members of the company and all persons who have contributed to the so far successful mission of the Pennsylvania National Guard unit of Warren the profound gratitude of Col. Mommery.

The final date for federalization of the Warren unit is November 15th and if not federalized by this date plans may be necessary to move the company to a larger community.

To move the company from Warren would deprive young men of this community the opportunity of military training, additional youth association, and numerous other advantages.

Capt. Scheerer states that in combat during this last war 80% of the casualties of his unit were men who had no military training prior to induction. This in itself proves the necessity of additional military training.

The majority of N. P. problems in the N. P. hospitals were also of men who had been denied the opportunity of pre-war military training, and a knowledge of regimentation. No parent raised his or her son to be a soldier, still each parent should feel responsible to encourage their children to prepare for any emergency they may encounter in life.

To spare our children of serious sickness from numerous diseases they are inoculated. To spare them from drowning we teach them to swim. To spare them on the battlefield or at least better their chances of living in the event of another war we should allow them to benefit from the experiences and teaching of those who have returned from combat.

The past history of some units of the N. P. G. has been stained by the misdeeds of some individuals, but we cannot deny the price of glory of others. The reorganization of Co. I has thus far been restricted to reputable young men and all those undesirable have been denied the privilege of joining.

It is the ambition and determination of all commanding officers of the PNG to rebuild an organization of such reputable standing that it will be a privilege and an honor to serve.

So worthy is this cause and so necessary is the training that I implore all parents to encourage their sons to enlist.

Recruiting is being conducted each Monday and Thursday evenings at the Armory on Hickory street. All persons interested in joining and all parents wishing further information may call there.

Penn Garners Spotlight In Pennsy Parade

BY RAY PETERSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

Power-packed Penn grabbed the spotlight in Pennsylvania's pigskin parade again over the weekend with a smashing 40 to 0 victory over the University of Virginia and appeared assured of retaining that spot—at least until Nov. 16 when Penn tackles Army, the nation's number one team.

The Big Red and Blue team, undefeated this season, rolled up the vast margin largely on aerial plays and once the game appeared virtually in Penn's pocket, Coach Geo. Munger poured in his reserves. But even then the Cavaliers were unable to stop Penn.

Elsewhere, Villanova chalked up its third consecutive victory and the fourth of the season by beating Georgetown University 19 to 2. Georgetown was repulsed after driving to Villanova's one-yard stripe near the end of the first half but came back in the final period with an aerial attack of six consecutive passes, carried Georgetown to Villanova's 11. The seventh aerial, however, was intercepted by Villanova's Bill Zehner who later dropped the ball, followed it into the end zone and was tackled for a safety.

A timely third quarter place kick for the point after touchdown gave Pitt a 7 to 6 triumph over Marquette after Marquette held a 6 to 0 margin at halftime.

The upset among the state's eleven was Michigan State's 19 to 14 victory over a favored Penn State team. Michigan drove 66 yards to victory in the final quarter to hand Penn State its first defeat of the season, though with somewhat more difficulty than last year when Michigan trimmed Penn State 33 to 0.

Last year a new event, the National open individual championship, was added to the program of the Winter National Tournament. This year the event is scheduled for Sunday, December 8, when the Winter Nationals will get under way at the Hollywood Beach Hotel, Hollywood, Fla. One hundred and twenty-four players entered the contest last year and it is expected that close to 200 will participate in it this year. Last year's winner was Theodore Samuels, of Easton, Pa., who is expected to defend his title in December.

Today's hand came up in the individual last year. At practically every table North bought the contract for four spades and made, losing a heart, a diamond and a club.

Samuels elected to take the sacrifice at five diamonds. It is difficult to take a sacrifice in the five zone, especially when vulnerable. However, it was a very good one, at East had to lose only a spade, a heart and a club, going down 200.

Only one club trick was lost by stripping the hand and playing the ace of clubs followed by a small club. If North won, he would drop South's queen. If South won, he would be forced to give declarer a sluff and a ruff. Important bidding plays a most important role in tournament bridge and is perhaps the most difficult technique of the game to learn.

CAMPAIGN NEWS

DEMOCRATIC
By the Associated Press

U. S. Senator Joseph P. Guffey asked at a campaign rally in Butler on Saturday night why the new gubernatorial summer home at Indiantown Gap military reservation should have been built at a time when materials were "desperately needed" for the war effort.

He said that the "large, luxurious, permanent stone mansion was comfortable and cozy with thousands of dollars worth of antique furniture, provided at state expense."

Guffey, seeking re-election for a third term, is running against Governor Martin, G. O. P. nominee for the U. S. Senate seat. He said Martin built the summer home while the war was in progress and "to make everything even nicer, Martin's son-in-law and daughter, by a strange coincidence, were provided with quarters on the reservation immediately adjoining the new mansion."

Declaring that Martin's son-in-law "spent the entire war at Indiantown Gap," Guffey added that he was "probably the only corporate officer in Indiantown Gap's history who ever rated private family quarters."

REPUBLICAN
A Democratic charge that Republican State Chairman M. Harvey Taylor holds a "monopoly" on the commonwealth's insurance and bonding business brought denial over the weekend both from Governor Martin and Taylor.

The governor issued a formal statement after John S. Rice, Democratic nominee for governor, said at Butler that "it was openly charged 'during the Republican primary campaign that Taylor's firm held what amounted to 'practically a monopoly' on the state's insurance business and that he would investigate the charges, if elected."

Taylor, in his denial, said "the truth is that if I had to depend upon the commissions received from state insurance distributed by the Martin administration, I would have been in the poorhouse long ago."

In another weekend statement, Taylor termed "macing activities" for campaign contributions on behalf of U. S. Senator Joseph P. Guffey among Pennsylvania postmasters. Guffey is the Democratic nominee for re-election.

FHA Aiding By Mortgage Plan Many In Area

Home owners in the Pittsburgh district who still carry one or more short-term home mortgage loans can strengthen their future security by consolidating on a long-term amortizing basis leading to debt-free ownership, District Director, Oakley W. Heselbarth said today at the Pittsburgh office of the Federal Housing Administration.

Under FHA's plan of home ownership, Mr. Heselbarth said, regular payments comparable to rent are made to the lending institution each month to take care of interest, principal, taxes, and hazard and mortgage insurance—everything except property maintenance.

Such a plan strengthens the financial position of the home owner in the years to come, he said, and at the same time helps curb inflation in home costs and prices.

In the 12 years since establishment of FHA, Mr. Heselbarth said, the amortizing system of home financing has gained national acceptance. Yet many home owners hold to an outmoded mortgage basis with no satisfactory arrangements for periodic reduction in the amounts owed.

Adoption of a sound amortizing mortgage plan offers owners of such properties many advantages beyond the basic benefit of having one loan which leads, at a specific date in the future, to free and clear home ownership.

FHA's plan of home ownership, under which more than 1,650,000 American families have bought or are buying their homes, typifies these advantages: They include:

1. Homes financed by FHA-insured mortgages are carefully appraised in conformity with FHA property and location standards. Essential repairs needed to restore a property to sound condition may be financed by the new mortgage.
2. Loans on sound existing homes may run for as long as 20 years and are retired by regular monthly payments covering all fixed charges; interest, principal, taxes, hazard and mortgage insurance, and assessments (if any). They do not include provisions for operation and maintenance of property.
3. Interest charges on FHA-insured mortgages may not exceed 4 1/2% on reducing balances; many institutions charge less. The FHA mortgage insurance premium is 1/2 of 1% on reducing balances.
4. Monthly payments may not exceed a reasonable proportion of the borrower's regular income. This affords protection against default or foreclosure caused by over-borrowing.
5. If the borrower's income increases, additional amounts may be paid against the mortgage, with complete retirement of the mortgage correspondingly hastened.

Dig Another Grave

By DON CAMERON

Chapter 23

THE telephone rang, shrilling through the room, making Martin jump. His first thought was for Dexter, who alone knew he was coming to the apartment; he had left Dexter in bed, still weak from yesterday's ordeal, and had been faintly worried about him ever since.

But the caller said, "Marty? This is Joe. I ain't forgot what you wrote about me on New Year's and now I want to do you a favor."

A moment's mental groping identified the caller as Joe Lark, the Gold Mine Club's doorman. Last New Year's Eve some of the more expansive guests of the establishment had insisted upon bringing Joe inside and treating him as a guest of honor, and Martin had immortalized the incident for a day in the Morning Record.

He asked, "How did you know where to find me?"

"It's where you live, ain't it? It's in the phone book. Where else would I find you?"

"I've been away, that's all. What's the favor, Joe?"

"I heard you lost your job. Well you could get it back if you got a front-page scoop about who's been doing all the killing around town lately, couldn't you?"

Martin's hand tightened on the phone. "I guess I could."

"Well, I been adding things up, thinking you left the Gold Mine right after Searle got the bounce and what they said and what ways they went. All at once it hit me like a ton of bricks that maybe I had the answer."

"Here's hoping. What is it?"

"You won't say anything to Morrie? He pays me for keeping my eyes open and my mouth shut, and he wouldn't appreciate me monkeying in what's none of my business."

"My lips are zipped."

"Okay. But I want to give you the dope personal. This is a public phone and I can't say too much. When can we get together before I have to go to work?"

"What's the matter with now?"

"Well, do you know the Tops? Tavern on Pearl Street around the corner from Maiden Lane?"

"No, but nobody ever yet hid a barroom so well I couldn't find it."

"I'll be watching for you. How long will you be?"

"Twenty minutes."

Martin wondered whether the call might be a part of some devious plan of Morrissey's. It seemed unlikely. Joe Lark was merely a superannuated handyman, somewhat over-fond of liquor, with little to recommend him or even the unexciting duties of a doorman except a gaunt, elongated frame on which a gold-braided uniform could be displayed to advantage. If Morrissey wanted to lay a trap for Martin—which struck the reporter as rather silly—he had more dependable henchmen on whose services he could call.

If Joe had anything to tell—if the underlying purpose of his call were not to inveigle Martin into buying some drinks—probably it would amount to no more than a vague suspicion. And yet it was possible that the fellow had hit on the one essential clue which all the rest of them had missed, and could end with a word this nightmare of mounting tension and indecision.

HE went outside and hailed a taxi, saving the ghosts to their own devices among whatever humanly undetectable vibrations might pulse in the apartment. He gave directions to the driver and leaned back in the warm sunlight that poured through the glass top of the cab.

There was no tavern of any description to be seen in the immediate vicinity of Pearl Street and Maiden Lane. As the cab departed, Martin strolled beneath the elevated tracks, which made criss-cross patterns of shadows on the pavement and along the grimy fronts of warehouses and plumbing and store-front shops. There was hardly any traffic; a train thundered overhead toward South Ferry, a horse-drawn cart clattered across the next corner, and a sedan came down the street slowly behind Martin.

He turned irritably after he had walked a quarter of a block, telling himself that Joe, not he, must have got the directions mixed. He

NOT ONLY IN THIS COMMUNITY, but all through the State, we're putting through more calls in 1946 than in any other year in Bell Telephone history.

And we're doing the job with a severe shortage of equipment: We simply can't get all the material we need to increase our facilities.

Even so, most calls go through quickly and smoothly: Most of the time, in most places, service is good:

Occasionally, however, there may be a delay before the operator can answer your signal. If this happens, we hope you'll understand. The operator doesn't like to keep you waiting even for a moment. But the switchboard equipment sometimes gets swamped with more traffic than it can handle.

This situation is temporary. It will end as soon as we can secure and install the necessary equipment:

THERE ARE THREE KINDS OF MEN

by EDWIN R. ERICKSON

ADVERTISING about life insurance is usually addressed to all, because nearly everyone is a prospect for life insurance.

¶ This advertisement is different. It is addressed to only a fortunate few. You will see why in a moment.

¶ Let me ask you to think of three men: Mr. Average, Mr. Handicapped, Mr. Preferred. The man I want to talk to is the last of the trio, Mr. Preferred.

¶ Life insurance is universally regarded as one of the safest forms of investment ever devised. Of approximately 70,000,000 policyholders in the United States, the overwhelming majority, conceivably all of them, know no worry about the safety of their insurance. They know that the great life insurance companies will fulfill every detail in the contract.

¶ Why so sure? The answer is: because people understand that insurance practices are based on actuarial averages equivalent to certainty. Insurance statisticians can and do reckon the expectations of the future. They can approximate the number per each 1000 persons of any age who will die in the years ahead, from natural causes. Their "Mortality Tables" and "Expectation of Life Tables" do more than reveal what has happened; they show what to expect.

¶ On such statistics are insurance rates calculated, and insurance benefits made available to Mr. Average. But there also are refinements to the calculations made for him.

¶ A risk may be below average, and still be insurable. He is Mr. Handicapped. He pays more than Mr. Average.

¶ And in a comparable category, but at the other end of the scale, there is Mr. Preferred. He pays less than Mr. Average.

Critic Finds "My Sister Eileen" Is "Praiseworthy" Players' Production

Editor's note: Continuing the custom established last season, qualified persons will again be chosen to present unbiased reviews of Warren Players' Club productions, the first, today, dealing with the very well attended and enthusiastically received presentation of Thursday and Friday nights.

A review of a Little Theatre production of "My Sister Eileen" in Warren, Pa. should really be divided into two sections: (1) a discussion of the results accruing from staging this type of play in a small community, and (2) an appraisal of the skill of the cast and management in the actual production.

A small but firmly disapproving minority would say that the first point is the real issue—that "My Sister Eileen" is morally to be deplored because it is not at all subtle in portraying the instructive interest of the male in the female of the human species. That the considerable majority of last week's audiences took a more practical view of man's frailties was apparent from the roars of appreciative laughter that greeted "My Sister Eileen's" many hilarious moments. The same majority rule persuades us to limit the present discussion to the actual performance by the Warren Players.

It must be said at once that the technical skill of an experienced and talented director was clearly evident throughout the play. There were innumerable danger points which could be met only by accomplished management—the rapid flow of action, lines, and sound effects at some points, and the effective handling of a crowded stage at others. For specific example, we mention that the scene with the Brazilian admirals could have led to the confusion and awkwardness so often found in an amateur production but instead was directed into action of impeccable smoothness. For this and innumerable other evidences of proficiency, Mrs. Cowden, the actress, and the numerous technical workers have earned congratulations for an excellent job.

One of the loveliest early fall funerals took place Saturday afternoon, October 5, in the First Methodist church, when Miss Shirley Lepp, daughter of Mrs. Earl Lepp, was united in marriage with Clifford E. Scott, Jr., son of Mrs. Gladys Scott, of Warren, Pa. and Clifford Scott, Sr. of Parma, O.

The Rev. Howard Moses, pastor of the church, performed the ceremony at two o'clock before a large company of relatives and friends.

The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, Clayton Worken. She was lovely in a gown of white tulle, fashioned with sweetheart neckline, and silk lace skirt with train to the floor. Her costume was completed with a Mary, Queen of Scots headdress and fingertip illusion lace veil. Her bouquet was of white chrysanthemums and yellow roses.

Miss Jean McKee, maid of honor, wore an attractive gown of pink tulle, with embroidered bodice and full lace skirt. In her hair was a band of pink roses and she carried pink chrysanthemums and roses.

Mr. Scott was attended by Albert Arnold, of Warren, Pa. Jack Scott, brother of the groom, and Leslie Stout, brother-in-law of the bride, were ushers.

Mrs. Lepp wore a black gown with sequin trim and Mrs. Scott wore blue crepe, each with a red rose corsage.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's mother.

Among out-of-town guests were Mrs. Gladys Scott and daughters, Joyce and Carol, with Mr. and Mrs. N. S. Carlson and daughter, Susan. Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Rogers, Warren; Stanley Collins, Kane.

Methodist Church Is Scene of Lovely Ceremony Sat.

The first Methodist church was the scene of a lovely fall wedding at four o'clock Saturday afternoon, when Rose Catherine Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. Parsons Miller, of Mayville, N. Y., became the bride of James B. Harrison, son of Mrs. Bruce Harrison, of Pittsburgh.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Wayne Furman, uncle of the bride, before an altar decorated with chrysanthemums and palms. Presiding the ceremony, Byron Swanson sang "Through the Years" and "I Love Thee." Miss Evelyn Wolstencroft presided at the organ.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a gown of white satin with a net yoke with real lace applique made by her mother, long sleeves coming to points at the fingertips, and full skirt ending in a short train. Her fingertip veil fell from a Juliet cap. She carried a bouquet of white roses and pompons. The maid of honor, Helen Miller, sister of the bride, wore a gown of blue silk jersey with Juliet cap and shoulder length veil and carried an army bouquet of pink roses.

Cpl. Bruce Harrison, Jr., was best man for his brother, and ushers were Gordon Patterson, of Wilmington, Del., and Harold Krinner of Waynesboro.

Following the ceremony, a reception-dinner was held at the home of the bride's aunt and uncle, Rev. and Mrs. Wayne Furman. About 35 friends and relatives were seated before a three-tiered wedding cake at tables decorated with flowers and candles. Out of town guests were from Kane, DuBois, Pittsburgh, Buffalo, Cleveland, Erie, Summerville, and Purdue University. Following their wedding trip, the newlyweds will make their home in Buffalo, N. Y., where Mr. Harrison is employed with Lucidol Corporation.

Mr. Harrison is a graduate of Mt. Lebanon High school and Allegheny College and has been doing graduate work at Carnegie Tech since last year. Mrs. Harrison was graduated from Charlevoix High School, where her father was a science teacher for many years. She is also a graduate of Allegheny College and completed her nurse's training at St. Luke's Hospital, Cleveland, O., where she was employed for several months prior to her marriage.

Thank God For Muscle-Rub!

Writes Mr. Robert Jordan, Colon, Mich.

Advises every sufferer from Rheumatic-Arthritic-Sciatic-Neuritic Pains to try Muscle-Rub.

Here's the true story of a man who took treatments, used all kinds of remedies for his sciatic, neuritic pains without being helped in the slightest degree. Mr. Robert Jordan of Colon, Mich., suffered agony from pains in his hip-knee-ankle of leg. The pain at times was so bad that he couldn't sit down. He tried several different treatments many different medicines, all of which did him no good. He couldn't work. Life was misery for him.

Then one day he saw an advertisement of Muscle-Rub—the doctor's prescription—and in desperation bought a bottle. He used it as directed and 3 days the pains were relieved and Mr. Jordan was back on the job.

No wonder he advises every rheumatic sufferer to try Muscle-Rub for fast pain relief. Get a bottle today at all good drug stores.

I DON'T WANT ADVICE, FLINT. I WANT MONEY TO STAND BY AND COVER ME WHEN I DELIVER THE MONEY.

THEY MIGHT AT THAT. BETTER TAKE THAT NOTE TO THE POLICE!

Clip left was a badly rattled man, in no mood to take advice.

I CAN'T GO TO THE POLICE, FLINT! THIS MUSTN'T GET OUT!

IT'S OUT ALREADY. WHATEVER YOU DO, DON'T PAY THE $10,000 THEY'RE ASKING. DON'T EVER PAY A BLACK-MAILER A DIME!

THINK IT OVER, FLINT! I'LL MAKE IT WORTH YOUR WHILE IF YOU'LL COVER ME WHEN I DELIVER THE MONEY.

NOT WITHOUT THE POLICE, MR. FLINT. I'D MERELY HAVE A DEAD CLIENT ON MY HANDS.

After Clip left, I was covering up the evidence of his visit when Blake returned.

HELP YOURSELF, OLD MAN! BUT I DIDN'T KNOW YOU TOUCHED THE STUFF.

WHAT BRINGS YOU HOME SO EARLY, HARDY? THIS IS NO TIME FOR A PARTY TO BREAK UP.

THE LIT'S ARE ALL CHURNED UP ABOUT SOMETHING. SO I LEFT. I JUST PASSED CLIP LEFT ON THE PATH.

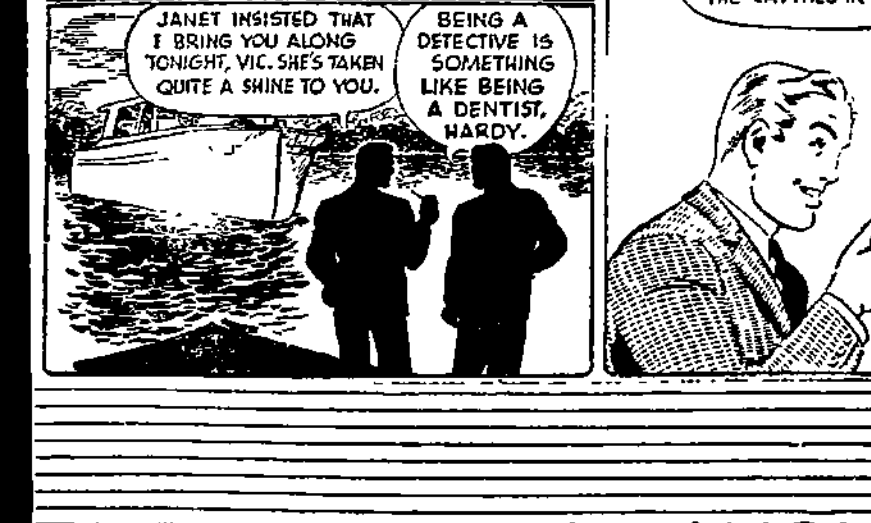

HE WAS HERE, WASN'T HE?

Janet left had invited Hardy Blake and me to dinner on her boat the same night her brother was directed to pay $10,000 blackmail.

JANET INSISTED THAT I BRING YOU ALONG. TOUGH, VIC SHE'S TAKEN QUITE A SHIKE TO YOU.

BEING A DETECTIVE IS SOMETHING LIKE BEING A DENTIST, HARDY.

PEOPLE INVITE YOU TO PICNICS. THEN THEY OPEN THEIR MOUTHS AND SHOW YOU THE CAVITIES IN THEIR TEETH.

YOU MEAN THE LIT FAMILY'S GOT A LOT OF CAVITIES, EH?

YEAH, AND TONIGHT'S LITTLE PARTY ON THE BOAT WILL BE NO PICNIC.

Owls Dump Local Gridders; Jackets Lose Second Game

Don Frampton's Eighty - Two Yard Kickoff Touchdown Is Named As the WHS Downfall

The Bradford High gridders showed a wealth of razzle-dazzle Friday night in pulling a staggering 53-0 count over the Warren High squad. 46 of their markers coming in the second and third quarters.

It was really well worth the price just to watch the Owls in action, and it would be guessed by this writer just how the Erie Academy prepared to hold Bradford scoreless.

Don Frampton's 82 yard kickoff touchdown was one for the books. From the pressbox it seemed that he was vending his way through a maze of stationary snafus, but the shrill cry of the Owls was truly alive and the grasping hands could not seem to hold onto the surprise. Warren players were out of action in the last half leaving a big gap in the local aggregation. Due to a lack of practice in the field, the Owls were in a state of confusion. The Bradford team was in a state of confusion. The Bradford team was in a state of confusion.

At the end of the first quarter the score was 7-0, the Owls having talked their seven points past Hagg's squad. The Owls took the lead in the second quarter with a 53-0 lead. The Owls took the lead in the second quarter with a 53-0 lead.

The Warren tally came next, considering them in order, with Dave Lane giving Warren the chance by recovering a fumble on the Bradford 20. To take the play from the first, Warren had the ball on the Owl 42 and Lopez tried a long pass to Lane. Frampton intercepted, carried the ball two steps and fumbled. Lane made up for the miss by pouncing on the ball. Warren took three plays almost from the same spot and then Don Duckett hit Frankie Shanshala with a pass in the end zone. Leonard's try for the point fell short to the end of the quarter.

Warren opened up with a kickoff in the second period and Don Frampton took the ball on the 18 and gallavanted down the center to midfield where he cut to the right side. Dave Lopez was not on his heels but couldn't catch up to the fast six-footer. Paul DiFonzo carried around the right side for the extra point.

From this point the touchdowns came hot and heavy. Frampton heaved to Conaway for 31 yards to set the ball on the Warren 16. Pingle carried 11 yards around right end for the tally three plays later. The Owls moved 55 yards on six plays for the next one. Ray Rex going across Watson recovered a Warren fumble on the Dragon's 20 shortly after the kickoff and three plays later Ray was over again.

The Owls loaded up with 20 more carries in the third with Marsh covering a Warren fumble to start the first score. On the first play following the kickoff, Pingle intercepted Beavino's pass and took it down the left side for the 33 for the score. Paul DiFonzo gained 46 yards for the final touchdown and A. DiFonzo passed to Johnson for the point.

SHEFFIELD WOLVERINES TAKE SECOND WIN IN ONE SEASON FROM THE WESTERLY EAGLES

Mike Trubic's Catch Is the Only One Completed For SHS

Youngsville High's Eagles were forced to submit to their second beating of the season at the hands of the Sheffield Wolverines, going down 6-0, in a thrilling Saturday afternoon game on Irvine's Wilder Field. The lone score came on a fluke pass from Steffan to Mike Trubic.

Although few realized it, it is believed that the number nine shot of "Gundy" Steffan led the Sheffielders in their win, indirectly setting up the touchdown through his two punts of 38 and 53 yards. The 53 yard nudge was early in the first quarter and seemingly had nothing to do with the lone tally that came near the end of the second stanza, but the punt settled on the Eagles' 15 and all the Wolverines had to do was to hold the Red and White to a minimum of gains. Steffan's educated toe being used to shove them back farther. His 38 yard kick that led directly to the score, does not seem a big thing in itself, but looked at in connection with the Eagles kicks that aver-

Sheffield, beginning at the second quarter, worked the ball to Youngsville 41 where they were forced to kick on a fourth down. The kick rolled perfectly and stopped on the three where it was downed. Youngsville tried two plays off scrimmage but failed to connect with much so they kicked on the third down from their own 8. Ronnie Mason kicked, now sharing the duties with Dick Spencer since the loss of Charlie Jones because of a broken leg, and sent the ball to the Eagles' 22 yard line. Steffan's 38 yard and six yards to the jaunt, topped off by Steffan's nine yard night end

Local Pros Drop the First Tilt On Home Field; Fancy Work In Third Scores For Warren

Mixing speed with brute strength the power loaded McKeesport Veterans whipped a spunky Warren Red Jacket eleven, 13 to 6, in the Sunday engagement on Russell field, handing the locals their first home jolt of the season, in one of the best games ever seen here.

Held scoreless the first quarter the Olympics racked up two touchdowns before the half ended, and protected their lead from there on, with Warren scoring in the third quarter, surprising the Veterans with a quick touchdown after show one of the most thrilling plays witnessed on the home field in years.

The play that put Warren in the game, and the fans to their feet, occurred as the half opened, on the kickoff, with Frankie Funnair running on the 30, with the ball being advanced to their 40 by a long series of spectacular laterals, to Unterreiner, to Suriani and then to Bivona.

A pass, Warney Check to Funnair was good for 10 yards and a first down, and then followed the home score with Check throwing to Johnny Imperial who snagged the ball while boxed in by opponents, and then getting clear in a play that netted twenty five yards and a touchdown.

From the time the half opened it was a fighting Warren team that was in there, seeking a break that never came, a break that could change, in seconds any such occurrence, by sticking right in clobbering the Warren advances, and attempting to add to their margin but without success.

Both of McKeesport's touchdowns were registered by George Smith, a high scoring player at Villanova and later with the Chicago Cardinals. He tallied twice from the 2 yard line, both touchdowns following a series of first downs, with Stevens, Slonsko and Brown all contributing in the ground gaining attempts.

Ves Baker and Joe Slonsko, a couple of fleet-footed backs, got off the longest runs of the afternoon, 40 and 35 yards respectively, both occurring in the fourth quarter but neither resulting in touchdowns. Slonsko, who went 95 yards in the McKeesport-Detroit game a week ago, was well on his way to a touchdown march on his run Sunday. Polly Pollack ran him down and, tackling from the rear, saved off another McKeesport tally.

The visitors had possession of the ball most of the day and in Warren territory, but the strong Jacket defense really had a test yesterday and several times came thru with flying colors, twice checking the Veterans on the 2-yard line for downs.

McKeesport sported a great line, with Ted DeLoe, Law and the big center, Bull Laughlin, smothering every Warren effort to hit the center but lots of credit should ing minutes, before being relieved by Bill Thayer.

The McKeesporters registered 16 first downs, 13 by rushing, while the Jackets garnered but 2. Warren, however, was better in the pass department, getting 7 completed out of 11 attempts while the visitors got only 3 out of 10 tries.

For the first time this year the Jackets played professional rules and the announcement to that effect, before game time brought loud cheers from the spectators.

Coach Whisner lost little time before getting Rosequist into the game and went in and out himself several times as the visitors threatened, and not to renew acquaintances with some of the McKeesporters who he knows from being in big time. It was a big difference, too, with both Whisner and Rosey in there.

A Warren break any time in the fourth period may have made a difference as the big boys from down Pittsburgh way were beginning to feel a strain out there from hammering and being hammered.

Several of the Vets were big enough to butcher but they were fast, too, and it was a real treat ... despite the defeat ... every fan will agree, who witnessed the game. And to those who could not or were not there ... you really missed out on a real show.

Stevens and Slonsko were given fine support, following, in most cases a path laid out by the four big green shirted giants who were serving as interference. It was a tough play to break up.

In the fourth quarter Bill Stimpson and Frank Funnair teamed up with a couple of mates, and on two straight plays, tossed the visitors for a loss of 23 yards. It was great defensive play that added lots to the game.

Meadville High's Bulldogs remain undefeated, and scored upon in seven games but they were given a tough battle Friday night before they turned back the Jamestown Raiders. Dave McMahon did the scoring for the Bulldogs and picked up 15 yards in his two touchdown spurs. He went 75 yards from a reverse for a score in the first quarter and in the third stanza he galloped 80 yards after intercepting pass.

Jamestown had the edge in first downs, piling up 12 to 5 by Meadville and outgained the North western Pennsylvania leaders.

THE STATE POLICE SAY:

How much does your operator's license mean to you? Could you place an actual dollar and cents value on it? If you need your operator's license in carrying on your occupation or to drive to your place of employment, it has a definite monetary value to you. Under the law your operating privileges may be withdrawn for any violation of the motor laws whatsoever, so why risk losing your privilege to drive when it pays such big dividends to drive safely.

HUNTERS WARNED

Game Commissioner James Latimer today warned this season's duck hunters not to venture into the fields before October 26th, the date set for the opening of the season this year. Much confusion exists among the hunters, he said, because in past years the duck season has always opened on October 15th. Adequate notice has been given of the change in dates but Game Commission officers still anticipate finding a number of hunters taking to nearby waters on the former starting date.

Film Depicts Activities Of Disabled Vets

A dramatic portrayal of the amazing achievement of disabled veterans in using artificial limbs and other devices, and in performing highly skilled jobs, is presented in the film "No Help Wanted" to be shown at the Library Theatre in Warren Tuesday and Wednesday, according to David W. Levine, manager of the Warren office of the United States Employment Service.

The USES recently directed an intensive campaign during National Hire the Handicapped Week in the interests of securing more job opportunities for disabled veterans and other handicapped persons. The local USES office is continuing to carry to employers the message that disabled veterans and other handicapped workers when placed in the right job can do excellent work. Recent surveys, Mr. Levine pointed out, have shown that handicapped workers, when properly placed, have better records than the able-bodied on safety, absenteeism and general efficiency.
